Introduction

The CASH Insight Data Submission Utility (also referred to as the ProSight Statement Studies Submission Wizard) enables clients to summarize borrower information for submission to ProSight Financial Association (ProSight) to meet submission requirements for Annual Statement Studies® by ProSight Financial Association. Submissions are required for member institutions and contribute to the ProSight Statement Studies® annual subscription program.

Eligible borrower files must include fiscal year-end financial statements dated between April 1 and March 31, with balanced Balance Sheets and valid Income Statement data. Once eligibility criteria are met, the CASH Insight Data Submission Utility, through the Wizard, provides a data maintenance form to capture additional borrower information, such as NAICS codes.

Notice: Wolters Kluwer does not warrant the accuracy of NAICS codes provided within CASH Suite. We strongly recommend you validate codes using official resources such as the U.S. Census Bureau NAICS listings (North American Industry Classification System \(NAICS\) U.S. Census Bureau).

About the Statement Studies® by ProSight Financial Association

Often it is helpful to compare a company to its peer group. Proper comparisons can help illuminate strengths and weaknesses of the company in ways not otherwise available.

ProSight Financial Association organizes comparative data to simplify comparing a company to its peer group in their ProSight Statement Studies® benchmarking data. To do so, it starts by grouping data by the industry code (NAICS code). Then, within the industry code, ProSight further groups companies based on their asset size or sales volume. CASH Insight uses these same characteristics to organize comparative data. In CASH Insight, simply go to the Comparisons ribbon.

About the Submission File

The ProSight Submission File is a system-generated data file that summarizes borrower financial statement data for annual submission to ProSight Financial Association, enabling participating institutions to contribute to and access industry benchmark Statement Studies.

The submission file is a structured data output file generated by the ProSight Statement Studies Submission Wizard. It summarizes borrower financial statement data in a standardized format required for submission to the ProSight Statement Studies® program, ensuring borrower financial statement data is submitted in a consistent, validated structure that aligns with ingestion requirements, reducing formatting errors and manual reconciliation. The submission file contains summarized financial data, not raw loan files, enabling ProSight to aggregate peer data while preserving borrower and institution confidentiality.

This file represents an organization's official annual data contribution to the program, which ProSight uses to produce aggregated industry benchmarking data.

---

Note: Submission of a data file is required only for organizations that are members of Annual Statement Studies® by ProSight Financial Association program.

---

The Submission Wizard presents a data maintenance form enabling the submitter to complete additional information about the borrower (for example, the company NAICS code).

The submission file plays a central role in the overall Statement Studies workflow:

1. Financial Data Preparation – CASH Suite analyzes borrower financial statements using standard spreading and analysis tools.
2. Submission File Creation - The CASH Suite Data Submission Utility selects eligible borrower records, summarizes required financial data, and generates the Submission File.
3. File Storage and Delivery – CASH Suite saves the file locally (using a default application-defined path) and then transmits it to ProSight through the approved submission channel.
4. ProSight Processing - ProSight aggregates submitted data across all participating institutions.
5. Benchmark Publication – ProSight publishes the Annual Statement Studies® by ProSight Financial Association and distributes to participating members.
